Santa Wrote Back!

The kids wrote letters to Santa and then decided to visit family out-of-state, so I called and left a message for him to call us back – and he DID! Cassie was so excited that she nearly peed her pants talking to him. She was SO NERVOUS too. I mean. Santa. Called. Her.

It was all very exciting and she got to tell him that we wouldn't be at home that year and told him where. But she also had decided that the robot dog she wanted (that hasn't been made since 2002 – just sayin') – she didn't want it anymore and instead wanted a cool robotic penguin named Penbo. Santa said he would certainly try. I hope he comes through!

But last week... OMG! We got letters postmarked from the North Pole! Santa wrote to Cassie and Rudolph wrote to Jamie. And he mentioned the phone call, so we know he knows now. A VERY good thing, indeed! Wanna see? (click to see a bigger picture)

(and yes, Jamie knows, but he is playing along and doing a stellar job – thank to UWriteSanta.com – they rocked!)
